VOLUME II. . JANUARY, 1911. NUMBER I.

POSTAGE STAMPS OF THE WEST INDIES.

By Charles Mathews.

Part I.

BARBADOS.

The first issue of the stamps of Barbados appeared in 1852. They were on blued paper, were imperforate, and without water-mark. The design consisted of a seated figure of Britannia, with spear and shield, and with a ship, etc., in the background. They bore neither words nor figures of value, but had "Barbados" at the bottom of the stamp. The colors and values were: ½d., yellow-green; ½d., dark green; 1d., both blue and dark blue; and 4d., brownish-red. About 1856, the ½d. and 1d. appeared in similar colors, but on white paper.

In 1858 a 6d., rose-red, and 1s., brown-black, were issued, still imperforate, but with the value in words below the design, and "Barbados" above, the latter word slightly curved. In 1860 the ½d. green and 1d. blue appeared in the first type, but perforated. Between 1861 and 1870 the ½d. green, 1d. blue, 4d red, each in various shades and roughly perforated, appeared without any value marked, and the 6d., rose-red, 6d., orange; and 1s., black, with value.

Hitherto all stamps were without watermark, but in 1870 an issue appeared watermarked with a large star. After this date all issues were perforated. The 1870 stamps were the ½d., green; 1d., blue; and 4d., vermillion without value, and the 6d., orange-vermillion, and 1s., black, with value, in words. In 1871 similar stamps of the 1d., 4d., 6d., and 1s. values came out, but water-marked with a small star.

In 1875 the large star water-mark was again used; but a 3d. (lilac-brown) appeared with the small star, also a 5s. (rose), larger, but with a similar design in a circle in centre, "Barbados" above, and the value below. Between 1875 and 1878 a ½d., green; 4d., red; 6d., yellow; and 1s., purple, water-marked crown and C.C., and perforated 12½, were issued. Also the same values, perforated 14, and with the addition of 1d., blue; 3d., mauve; and 1s., mauve.

In 1878 the first of the two "provisional" Barbados stamps was issued—halves of the 5s., rose, being surcharged 1d. in various types. This stamp is rare. Between the years 1882 and 1886 a new type appeared, having Queen Victoria's head in profile, and wearing a diadem, in a circle in centre, "Barbados" above, and the value in words below. They were water-marked crown and C.A., and perforated 14. This issue comprised the following values and colors:—½d., ultramarine; 3d., mauve; 4d., grey; 4d., brown; 6d., olive-brown; 1s., chestnut; and 5s., ochre.

In 1892 the 4d. brown was surcharged "halfpenny" in words, in black, and also doubly surcharged in both red and black. This type was in 1892 replaced by one in which Britannia appears armed with Neptune's trident, riding in his car, and drawn by two "fiery untamed" seahorses across the foaming billows. Water-mark and perforation are unchanged. Values and colors were:—¼d., grey and carmine; ½d., green; 1d., rose; 2d., blue-black and orange; 2½d., ultramarine; 5d., olive-brown; 6d., mauve and carmine; 8d., orange and blue; 10d., blue-green and carmine; and 2s. 6d., blue-black and orange. In cases where two colors are given, the velue is in the second.

In 1897 a "Jubilee" issue appeared, water-marked crown and C.C., and perforated 14. The centre was similar to that of the previous issue, but in a diamond-shaped frame; "Barbados" above, the value in words below. "Victoria, R.I." and the lion of England and Scotland, and harp of Ireland in the angles between centre and frame make up an effective design. There were: ¼d., grey and carmine; ½d., green; 1d., rose; 2½d., blue; 5d., olive-black; 6d., mauve and carmine; 8d., orange and ultramarine; 10d., dull green and carmine; and 2s. 6d., blue-black and orange.

In 1899 a 2d., slate and orange watermarked crown, and C.A. was issued, being the same design as that of 1892.

In 1903 a 2s. 6d., purple and green was issued, same design and watermark as 1892.

Another issue of above design, with water-mark, multiple crown and C.A., appeared in 1904 in these values: 1f., grey and carmine; ½d., green; 1p., carmine; 2½p., ultramarine; 6p., violett and carmine; 8p., orange and ultramarine, 25, 6p., violet and green.

In 1905 a new design appeared, this had a view of the first Nelson monument on a panel with NELSON on one side, Trafalgar on the other, Barbados on top, and value at the bottom, with the dates 1805-1905 at each side of first monument erected to Nelson's memory, 1813. These were water-marked crown, and C.C., and were of the following values: 1f., grey-black; ½p., green-black; 1p. carmine and black; 2p., orange and black; 2½p., ultamarine and black; 6p. purple and black; 1s., dull rose and black.

1906 saw another new design, a ship on a panel, with a background of olive trees. Across the top was 1605, Barbados 1905, and at the bottom postage—one penny—revenue above this in centre was the olive blossom. There was but one value of this one penny, black and green, watermarked, multiple crown and C.A.

1907 saw the stamp of 1904, watermarked multiple crown and C.A.: 1f., 1f., grey-black; 2p., orange and black; 2½ ultramarine and black.

Also a charity stamp, that of 1899, surcharged in red, Kingston Relief Fund: 1d., on 2p., slate and orange, of these there were the following errors: No period after 1d., inverted surcharge, inverted surcharge with no period after 1d., and double surcharge.

Next issue, we will continue this, with an article on the stamps of Nevis and Tobago. Be sure and get this by send- your subscription now.

FATE OF THE PENNIES.

By D. W. Stevens.

What becomes of all the pennies?

It seems to be with them very much as it is with pins—nobody knows where and how they disappear Yet they vanish in some fashion. Last year the Philadelphia Mint coined 94,000,000 pennies. It would take a good sized building to hold so many, but they did not begin to supply the never-satisfied demand for more. Just now the establishment referred to is hard at work manufacturing further suplies, and so will continue.

Bronze cents are subject to more accidents than happen to any other United States coins. It is said that a penny changes hands in trade ten times for once that a dime passes from one pocket to another. Being of small value, these little pieces are not taken much care of. There are a thousand ways in which they get out of circulation, and thus the minting of them has to be kept up continually. The metal blanks from which they are made by the simple process of stamping are turned out for Uncle Sam by contract by a factory in Connecticut at the rate of a thousand for $1. As they come from the machines, fresh and new, they look like glittering gold.

One may get a notion of the number of pennies lost from the history of the old half cents. Of these 800,000 were issued a few years ago. Where are they now? A few are in the cabinets of coin collectors. None have been returned to the mint for recoinage or are held by the Treasury. Nobody sees them in circulation. All of them except a few hundred saved by curio hunters, have absolutely disappeared. Of the old copper pennies, 119,000,000 still remain unaccounted for, save that once in a long while one sees a specimen. There are more than 3,000,000 bronze two-cent pieces somewhere out of 4,500,000 of them that the government issued. Of nickel three-cent pieces nearly 2,000,000 are yet standing, although it is seldom that one of them is come across.

In the Treasury department the question came up as to the weight of a dollar bill. Scales of perfect accuracy were brought into requisition, and the surprising discovery was made that twenty-seven one dollar notes weighed exactly as much as a twenty-dollar gold piece. The latter just balances 450 grains. However, the bills weighed were perfectly crisp and new. Trial made with solid notes, such as come in every day for redemption, showed that twenty-seven of them weighed considerably more than the $20 coin. Every paper dollar on its way through the world continually accumulates dirt, so that after a year of use it is perceptibly heavier.

The actual weight of paper which the Treasury sends by express every year to all parts of the country is in the aggregate enormous. Since July 1st it has dispatched $38,000,000, nearly all of it in small notes, to the South and West for the purpose of moving the crops. The banks lend this cash to the farmers on whatever they grow, and thus products of the field are harvested and shipped.

OFFICIAL ORGAN

THE CANADIAN COLLECTOR.

WITH OUR MEMBERS.

It has long been our desire to give our readers more benefits, and a more interesting club, and as a starter we have amalgamated our Post Card and Stamp Club of Chicago, and The Echo Exchange Club, as one under the new name of The Canadian Collectors' Club, and Mr. M. Enger, former owner of Our Stamp Club, will in future be manager of Our Stamp Exchange Circuit. This department also one of our new benefits, has been organized along new lines, and we ask the co-operation of all members to make this department a success. Exchange sheets will be supplied the members, at 10c. per dozen sheets. Get some and fill them up with your duplicates, and send them to Mr. Enger, Exchange Manager.

I have also organized Auction, Post Card and Coin departments. These departments I intend to look after myself, for a time at least, and I will always do my best to help all members in any way possible.

Members are urged to make use of each and every department. That is what they are for. Those in charge will be only too pleased to answer any query. So ask them—the more you make use of them the better for all concerned.

Why not help us to enlarge our club. Get abroad; tell others about the good thing you have got. Let all help by securing at least ONE NEW MEMBER. Co-operation is essential to make this the best club.

How many application blanks can you use? They are free for the asking. DO IT NOW.

I will always be glad to hear from you—one and all.

Yours,

R. A. AUSTIN.

PRESS COMMENTS.

The December Hobbyist is again on hand in excellent form. It contains some good things. Among others there is a view of Main St., Winnipeg, with Mr. Kendall standing in the foreground as large as life and twice as natural. with his right understanding resting on the seat of a large motor truck, and with his right hand pointing to the position of the loose latch string. Judging by the size of O. K., compared with the size of the City Hall, Mr. O. K. is some muchness in Winnipeg.

Redfield's Weekly, The Stamp Journal, The Stamp Collector, The Southern Philatelist, are also regular arrivals at our Exchange Desk, and all contain something of interest, and are worth while. Others of which we receive a copy once in awhile are The Post Cardist, The Empire Philatelist, The New York Philatelist, Carter's Messenger, Nammack's Philatelic News, Letter and The Collector's Journal, and The Stamp Collector of England, The Snow Flake Post Cardist, The Canadian Philatelist, The Victor Stamp News (now the International Collector).

DID YOU KNOW THAT ?

The Victor Stamp News has been sold by Mr. Trowles to Mr. G. H. Crouch, 911 Dovercourt Rd., Toronto, and same will be combined with The International Collector.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

The Post Cardist is now published by August Mack, of Mack Stamp Co., of Scranton. We expect to see some thing worth while in the near future.

The ever progressive Stamp Collector of Columbus, O., has gotten out a very neat little circular to assist participants in its $800. Subscription Contest to secure subscribers. The circular is of 4 page size. First page is a miniature reproduction of a page of The Stamp Collector; two pages give a brief summary of some of the good things to be found in The Collector, and the l ast page is a subscription blank. Those interested will find a copy of this circular enclosed with this issue of The Canadian Collector.

New stamp collectors' clubs seem to be in order these days. Among the latest are: Kansas City Philatelic Club, and Roxbury Stamp Club, and another in Minneapolis. We also learn from December Hobbyist that the Winnipeg Stamp Club will in future be a branch one of The Hobby Club.

COUNTERFEITING ANCIENT COINS.

For the Purpose of Selling Them to Coin Collectors Is a Fine Art.

Has been going on for Four Centuries—Munich Exhibition of Counterfeits.

Special Correspondence

Munich, Dec. 23.—J. P. Morgan and other rich Americans who delight in collecting foreign coins may be able now to pick out the counterfeits they have acquired in the course of time.

One of the directors of the Munich Coin Cabinet, Section Counterfeits, told your correspondent that there are thousands upon thousands of counterfeit coins of alleged historic value in American collections.

The new counterfeit section just opened proves that some counterfeits are better made than the originals. They were coined to supply a demand for antique coins and metals that had become extremely rare.

"The counterfeiting of Roman coins and metals began in the middle of the sixteenth century in Padua, and has continued ever since," said the official, "and the real counterfeits, that is, the imitations of coins made to deceive, are th very best. Coins made merely to represent those of ancient Rome were not so well executed.

"On the other hand, some imitators counterfeited original coins by additions, only found on very rare pieces. Again, coins and metals were made that never had any existence in fact."

The directors showed your correspondent a coin of the year 69 A.D., marked Emperor Otho. If such an Emperor ever existed he certainly made no such coins. The most successful counterfeiter of ancient coins was Carl Wilhelm Becker. A whole showcase is filled with specimens of the counterfeits he made to deceive the collectors.

A Collection of 63,000 Cigar Bands.

The hobby of the rich collectors are sometimes as silly as those of the street boy. A French banker who died recently left a collection of 63,000 cigar bands, each differing in some particular from the other.

These had cost him fifty years of smoking and had been arranged systematically in a number of specially constructed cabinets. None of his children shared his taste, so it was decided to sell the bands. When put up to auction the collection which had entailed the expenditure of so much time and money realized twenty francs.

KING'S NAVAL LIBRARY.

Its Transfer Ordered to Windsor Castle.

King George's keenness as a collector of postage stamps is well known. His collection is soon to be removed to Windsor, where it is hoped arrangemtns may be made for it being open to public inspection. It is not generally known, however, that the King, always a keen sailor, owns one of the finest collections of naval books and pamphlets in the world. This library, consisting of some thousands of volumes, is at present in York Cottage, but its transfer to Windsor Castle, where proper space can be given to it, has just been ordered. For years past a firm of West End booksellers has had a standing order to submit for the King's inspection all new books dealing with the navy of any country. Many, of course, are in French and German. But in cases where the language is one with which the King has not so familiar an acquaintance special translations are made for him.

If its in The Canadian Collector its reliable.

A POST CARD FROM THE CLOUDS.

Aerial Postcards are the latest novelty in this line, and those who collect Postcards are delighted with the idea that before long they will be able to add to their albums a "carte aerienne" dropped from the clouds by one of their friends, passing in his areoplane.

The new cards bear a printed request that the person finding it on the ground will take it to the nearest post office, whence it will be forwarded to its destination. A space is reserved for mention of the altitude at which the message left the sender's hands, and the situation, approximately, of the aeroplane at the time of sending a photograph of a monoplane or by-plane figures on the other side. It is said that a request has been made to the Minister of Posts and Telegraphs in France that a special stamp should be created for these aerial missives.

K Sugimura, 8 Tori'abura Cho Nihonbashi, Tokyo, Japan. A. Vedernjak, 243 E. 84th St. New York. Martin Enger, 1517 N. Irving Ave., Chicago, Ill. The Philatelist Magazine Agency, Thief River Falls, Minn.

Commencing in this issue, we are publishing a series of writings on the stamps of the West Indies, written for us by the well-known Philatelic writer, Charles Matthews. These articles cover the entire lot of the islands under British control, and we consider ourselves very fortunate in getting such valuable and instructive writings as these. But then, nothing is too good for the subscribers of our paper, and when these are finished, we will have something just as good, if not better, to follow.

With this number, we also changed the name of our magazine. Now, we had a very good reason for this change, in fact several reasons, The principal one, however, was that the name Post Card Echo, always gave the impression that our's was only a post card magazine. Whereas, it was always our aim to be of interest to collectors in general. al.

We believe our new name of "The Canadian Collector," will be more suitaable. We hope the name appeals to you, that is, we hope it will induce you to send your subscription along. We are still in need of a larger list and more advertisers.

It is our intention to publish The Canadian Collector every second month; six times a year, January, March, May, July, September and November. But our subscription price will remain the same, 25c. for 12 numbers (2 years), and a 25 word ad. free once.

PUBLISHER.

A CONTEMPORARY ADVERTISES.

We have more collectors ads., and larger circulation than any other Canadian paper.

That may be. We don't claim to be an advertising paper. We desire to give our subscribers reading matter that will interest them, and as we get more ads., so will we give more space for reading matter.

His claim of largest circulation is open to doubt. We are rather proud of our own circulation and subscription list, and it is getting bigger every day.

A collector in Winnipeg says:

"I have read your sample copy sent me. It is great. I enjoyed every page. Enclosed my subscription for the next 12 months."

Yours,

Another says:

"Your magazine deserves every possible success. I have showed it to some of my friends, and they promptly gave me their subscriptions. Enclosed $1.25 for five. It is worth the money, and I notice it gets better and bigger every issue."

Yours,

This is what we like to hear; but we also like to hear if you have any complaint. If you have, tell us, don't tell others. We will try to rectify our blunders. Don't knock—push. If you are not a subscriber we both lose.

Ads. in The Canadian Collector pay because they are read.
